

Poetry

Rafael Mendoza Farías

1 piece · June 2026

Contents

Tideline (2026-06-20)

3

Tideline

Poetry · June 20, 2026

The sea keeps no calendar
and still arrives on time, laying its thin grey ledger
along the same torn line.

What it takes, it takes slowly —
a name, a step, a stone — and what it gives back wholly is the patience to go on.

A sample poem — replace it with your own work; line breaks are preserved.